mayonnaise gribiche

We were reluctant to include a recipe for mayonnaise, because of the health hazards associated with raw eggs. Instead, here's a recipe for gribiche that uses hard boiled egg yolks, so it's safe. It's also tolerant to change, so you can make it with a range of ingredients to suit your taste.

gribiche – basic

2 hard boiled eggs
250ml vegetable oil
25ml wine vinegar
1 tbsp fresh ½ tsp dried tarragon salt & pepper

- Crack the hard boiled eggs, and separate the yolks and whites. Roughly chop the whites and put them into a bowl. Finely chop the gherkin and shallots and add them to the bowl
- Put the yolks, mustard, vinegar, tarragon, parsley, and a good pinch each of salt and pepper into the jug blender. Fit the lid, and turn the speed control to Ⓢ for a couple of seconds.
- Now you need to take care – you have to drizzle oil slowly into the jug.
- Put the oil into a small jug or bottle – something you can control the flow of oil with.
- Turn the speed control to 1.
- Remove the cap from the jug, and drizzle the oil slowly into the blender, as if you were making mayonnaise.

almost mayonnaise

- all of the shallots, gherkin, egg whites into the blender at the end.
- mayonnaise is eggs, acid, and oil, so remove the tarragon, mustard, shallots, gherkin, for a more mayonnaise-style taste.
- remoulade is mayonnaise with mustard, so reinstate the mustard, and maybe one of the shallots close to aioli

- aioli is mayonnaise with garlic, so replace the shallots, gherkin, and mustard with a couple of garlic cloves

not quite tartare sauce

- replace the shallots and mustard with capers
- fry a slice of dry cured back bacon till it's not quite crisp, trim the fat, cut it up a bit, then, before you clean the blender, blend the bacon to a paste, and fold into the basic gribiche

gribiche variations

- rice wine vinegar, lemon juice, or lime juice
- the vegetable oil can be tasteless (safflower/grapeseed/peanut), to bring out the flavour of the other ingredients, or flavourful (virgin olive oil/corn oil), or use a tasteless oil with a dash of the more expensive oils (sesame/hazelnut/walnut)

the herbal/spice ingredients (mustard, tarragon, parsley) can be swapped/augmented by other varieties

the crunchily ingredients (gherkins, shallots, capers) can be swapped/augmented – there are probably at least 4 different types of onion in your local supermarket, there's probably sauerkraut, there's bound to be water chestnuts, there'll be many varieties of peppers and chillies

4 handfuls fresh coriander leaf 120g pine nuts

900ml (1½ pints) chicken or vegetable stock
2 tbs vegetable oil

Peel the pumpkin, remove the seeds, and cut the flesh into chunks, roughly chop the coriander. Heat the oil in a pan, add the leeks, garlic and spices, then stir till the leeks have softened slightly.

Add the pumpkin and stock to the pan, bring to the boil, then simmer gently till the pumpkin is tender (20-30 minutes). Remove from the heat, and stir in the coriander and cream. Let the mixture cool for about 30 minutes, then blend at high speed, till it's really smooth. Return the mixture to the pan and heat to serving temperature (don't let it boil). Taste, adjust the seasoning, and serve with crusty bread.

leek & potato soup

150g leeks, trimmed
2 vegetable or chicken stock cubes 150g potatoes, peeled 800ml water

Blend the leeks and potatoes for a couple of seconds (you want them lumpy, not mushy). Transfer to a pan, and add the water and stock cubes. Bring to the boil, stirring, reduce the heat, cover the pan and simmer for 20 minutes. Let the mixture cool for about 30 minutes, then blend at high speed, till it's smooth and silky. Return the mixture to the pan and heat to serving temperature (don't let it boil). Taste, adjust the seasoning, and serve with crusty bread.
